LCEH™ Statement:

Please acknowledge that opening the doors of past memories will bring out the characteristics and any karma associated. The knowledge of how to enter this aspect of your nature needs to be studied carefully before entering therein. This work requires a commitment. There is no one session that will heal your past once this door is open. The possibility of memory up rushes from the past should be expected. One should be prepared to continue with regular sessions that deal directly with this part of human nature.

“May we boldly say that this unique teamwork of healing the deeper issues of the human spirit, providing help where there has been none and hope where others have given up, could very well be the most advanced healing process presently known.”

Rev. Weston D. Bailey
